The card was not of the best, but it was fully up to the have withdrawn complain in bluer terms about the starting, while others talk about the stewards' In their respective races. If the barrier is abolished of the bookmakers say that the starting rould be greatly improved. The disqualification of Decaped on Saturday, and the manner in which Kinvarra was interfered with in his race with last Wednesday, when the falled to take action, caused several bookmakers make many scathing remarks as to people will go to see the races at Brighton any no matter what the newspapers, racegoers o anybody else may say about the racing, that they have no care for criticism or the opinions of the best friends of the sport.

It is likely that another racetrack will be con structed, perfectly equipped in every particular, It the dates conflict with Brighton Jockey Club. It the dates conflict with Brighton the latter will certainly go to the wall unless some radical changes are made for the rest of the present meeting. The new track is almost an assured fact, for there is room for another first class racetrack and training grounds. A wide evenue has been cut through the grounds of the Brooklyn Jockey Club, and it is extremely probthat another will be cut through next spring. and that the club will be compelled to find new quarters. For these reasons a club first-class in all its appointments within easy distance of this city, would have a decided advantage, and if city, would have a decided advantage, and if necessary, could race in opposition to either Brighton or Aqueduct at a profit.

The racing yesterday was commonplace and monotonous to the spectators. The horses ran, the band played, the official timer hung out the time, the stewards ruminated, the starter earned his salary. W. C. Daly ran two horses in one race and did not invite the handcapper to see them roll in the sand, John E. Madden wore a pensive smile and cast turtive glances at the gate, as if he were waiting for a tip or a customer for Songster. Francis D. Beard, large, robust and healthy, sazed at the stewards as if he expected them to do flip-flaps in the stewards box for his amisement.

A. J. Joyner, who backs Maher's mounts, reserved his loudest whoops for some future occasion, as he would not bet on Ruby Lips at odds on in a large field of maiden fillies, for the reason that fillies are so uncertain. John J. Hyland sat in a large field of maiden fillies, for the reason that fillies are so uncertain. John J. Hyland sat in a maps and plans for the fall campaign and the season of 1838. David Giceon watched the sparrows as they fittered and twittered on the grandstand. John W. Mackey, tanned by the Chinook zephyrs of Rancho Del Paso and the bookmakers, dilated on the superiority of the whereness of the thus in breeding. His sole auditor said, "I guess it was," and the California oracle was eatisfied. Senator P. H. McCarren, the stateman from Williamsburg, was serene and happy, as he has few political cares and the Brooklyn Boss does not travel abroad.

Williamsburg, was serein and happy, few political cares and the Brooklyn Boss does not travel abroad.

Some wicked person started a rumor that a real good thing would be cut loose on Friday, and sent word to Tammany Hall for all the braves to be on hand. Richard Croker is expected to arrive on the Lucania on Friday night, and as every true brave is expected to go down the bay to meet the king the braves were greatly upset, especially so because the Guggenheimer ordinance prevented them from relieving themselves in the old-fashioned way. Mr. Croker is expected to be present to witness the race for the Brighton Cup next Satur-day; consequently the caterer is making extra preparations in anticipation of a record-breaking attendance.

Why is the pneumatic tire faster than the solid rubber tire? For the reason that there is less vibration with the pneumatic. The Monty absorbs all vibration and it follows logically and as a matter of fact that with its use the speed of the bicycle is noticeably increased.

THE COFFEE AND COTTON EXCHANGES GAME

Teams representing the New-York Cotton and Coffee exchanges met in a match yesterday on the links of the Staten Island Cricket and Baseball Club. It was a close and interesting contest, but until the last pair came in victory rested with the brokers in the fragrant bean, though only by the scant margin of 2 holes. H. E. Havemeyer, who now halls from the Riverside Golf Club, of Chicago, and who plays as well as his cousins on the Yale team. Was No. 1 on the Coffee Exchange team. He beat his opponent 2 up. Wiggin did the best work for the followers of King Cotton, beating Dorr by 4 holes. Wiggin went out in 33, only a stroke behind the record for the links, and at that point was 5 up, Dorr managing to reduce the lead to a hole on the second round. Banks and Higgens broke even, after the former had been 2 up on the first round. Except for driving the green and holing out in 3 on the eighteenth hole, Banks would have been defeated in spite of his brilliant work on the first nine holes. The summary:

There were several other players, including Mrs.
W. E. D. Stokes and Miss Dorothy P. Edwards, both from New-York, who played in hard luck and made low scores. Arden N. Robbins, of the St. Andrews Club, New-York, established a new record for eighteen holes, twice around the Kebo course, to-day. He defeated Herbert Leeds, the crack Brookline Country Club golfer, in a match, and made the excellent record of 78 strokes for the eighteen holes, which will probably stand for some time. The previous record of the course, held by himself, was 84. His score by holes to-day was:

A NOTABLE ADDITION TO THE THIRTY-FOOT CATBOAT CLASS.

A notable addition has just been made to the 30 foot cathoat class, in which some of the best racing Randall, of the Atlantic Yacht Club, has arrived in years 1895-'96. She is a cabin centreboard for the moorings of the Atlantic Yacht Club yesterday, Mr. Randall said he would discard the headsail and sail as a catboat in the 20-foot class, and that the Rex was just over the 25-foot limit, so that he could compete with the Dot, owned by C. T. Pierce, and the Kit, owned by T. J. Dunne. Her racing length, he said, was 25.65 feet, and, as the other boats are built right up to the 30-foot limit, there would be a large time allowance given him. The measurements of the Rex, as told by the owner, are: Length over all, 30-feet; water-line length, 22 feet; beam. If feet. This craft was bought from John B. Farrell, of the South Boston Yacht Club, and she was built by Nathan Huckins in 1855. It is the second yacht bought by Mr. Randall this season. The first was the 25-foot sloop Muriel, which was also sailed around from Boston. But as there was no racing class for her, she was immediately sold to Vice-Commodore Camp of the Penataquit Corinthian Yacht Club. She immediately went on the ways at Searn's yard to have a new rudder shipped and be got ready to race in the twenty-five-foot class, in which Captain James Barr, a son of Captain John Barr, will sail her. This craft has just been turned out of Wood's yard, at City Island. She is of the extreme modern racing type, being forty-six feet long, with only twelve and one-half inches' draught of water. Her water-line length is about twenty-five feet, with an extreme beam of nine feet eleven inches. She is built almost wholly of mahogany, and was designed by Gardner & Cox. of New-York. She took her first race on Saturday last in the regatta of the Eastern Tacht Club, and won out so easily that she now forms the chief topic of conversation among Boston yachtsmen.

BOXING.

M'PARTLAND AND EVERHARDT DRAW-A CON TEST REMARKABLE FOR ITS TAMENESS.

"Kid" McPartland, of this city, and "Jack" Ever nardt, of New-Orleans, fought a twenty-five-round draw before the Greater New-York Athletic Club a Coney Island last night before a great crowd of spec tators. The contest was a tame affair, the contest ants apparently taking pains to avoid injuring each other, and it was apparent to the spectators why the other, and it was apparent to the spectators why the two previous contests between McPartland and Everhardt resulted in draws. The preliminary contest was the reality interesting part of the programme. The principals were "Dave" O'Connor, of Paterson, and an Italian boy named "Mike Toots." They fought twelve rounds at 116 pounds. Neither displayed any science, but both did plenty of hard hitting. In the seventh round O'Connor broke hitting. In the seventh round O'Connor broke hitting. FAVORS A COLLEGE BASEBALL LEAGUE. ANOTHER PLEA FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF AN INTER-UNIVERSITY ORGANIZATION. To the Editor of The Tribune.

Sir: With reference to the contribution which appeared in your columns some time ago advocating the formation of a league of college baseball teams, a word may not be out of order at the pres-ent time. The task of awarding the so-called "championship" was a peculiarly difficult one this year, particularly as several of the strong team did not come together at all. With a genuine championship to play for, or, at least, the first honers to a league of representative teams, the which would accrue to the college game would be great. In addition, the unhealthy spirit of exclusiveness which is likely to manifest itself in the refusal of one strong hine to meet an entirely honorable opposing one would be done away with, something which must happen once for all in the Interests of college sport. Whatever disadvantages may arise can be done away with, and that without great difficulty. It is to be hoped that the colleges will take this matter under serious consideration, for it is indeed a wonder that the progress which the game has made of late years has not already witnessed the formation of a league. At the same time it would be profitable it those who may not favor such a proposition would give their views on the subject. From my observation of college baseball, covering a number of years, it seems to me that the signs all favor the meeting of the stronger college nines on the same basis. Dual and triangular leagues should not be considered when other fast feams do not play the members of such leagues at all. "BROWN, '98." orable opposing one would be done away with,

THE EXPERIMENT TO BE REPEATED IF SUC-CESSFUL

The members of the New-York Consulate of the League of American Wheelmen were divided into small squads last night by the senior consul, and they began their patrol of the city streets. It is the object of the members of the consulate to see for themselves whether or not the rules of the road and city ordinances governing cycling are being lived up to, and if they are not, as has been reported, the reason for the neglect. It is not the object of the consulate for its members to become complainants or to go into the courts if such a thing can be avoided. If they witness a pajpable infringement of the ordinances and there happens to be a policeman in the neligiborhood, they will simply remark the fact and the positive work will be attended to later. The members of the consultate will not wear any uniform or badge, so that no one except their personal friends will know who they are. If the plan used for the first time last night proves to be a successful one, it will be repeated at regular intervals. Knowing that the consultate was on the warpath last night possibly had a good all-around effect, for at several places uptown, where cycling is popular at night, it was observed that the police were unusually alert and active in the performance of their duty. bject of the consulate for its members to become

The Macon Wheelmen, of Brooklyn, having their rooms at No. 1.389 Fulton-st., have been in exis ence since February. The club was organized by a dozen young men, and the Macon Wheelmen now has a membership of eighty riders. The club holds its meetings every Thursday evening, but the rooms are open every evening for members and runs, which are held every other Sunday. Its main object is riding for pleasure, and not for speed main object is riding for pleasure, and not for speed. A schedule for the riding season has been made up, and a handsome prize is offered to those attending the greatest number of runs. In addition to the schedule, they will have a night run once a week during the warm weather, and on August 6 there will be a moonlight run to Valley Stream. Long Island, starting at 6 o'clock. A chowder supper will be a feature of this run. The officers of the club are: G. Manson, president; W. Graham, vice-president; G. Wilkening, financial secretary; J. Hatten, recording secretary; L. H. Wilkening, treasurer, C. W. Harishorn, captain; A. J. L. Wood, first lieutenant; L. Wilkening, second lieutenant; J. Cavanagh, sergeant: T. W. Graham, color-bearer, and W. Palmer, bugler. For months the members of the League of Ameri-

an Wheelmen in Indianapolis have been hard at work preparing for the entertainment of the visitors they will welcome to the National meet next month. Not behind work in effect is the labor that is being done by the committee of the Eastern delegation, which is making arrangements for the special party that will visit the Hoosier capital during the meet. A big party, including the prominent League of American Wheelmen officials, will leave this city for Indianapolis on Sunday, August 7.

AND TWENTY-FOUR HOURS. Norwood, Mass., July 25.—Frank A. Waller, more familiarly known as "Dutch" Waller, the long-distance cyclist, successfully completed his twentyfour-hour road record-breaking attempt at 4:24 p. m. to-day.

Postoffice Square, Norwood, the pacing being done by six tandems and a triplet, each team pacing five miles, then waiting till Waller's return. Large crowds congregated all along the course to cheer nim on, many remaining all night to see him pass. Waller finished strong and apparently not the east fagged out by the long and tedious ride. Waler established State records for 50 and 75 miles. broke the State record for 300 miles, the National and world's record for 300 miles, and the National and world's record for twenty-four hours. He covered 51 miles in 2 hours 31 minutes 23 seconds, 5 miles in 2 hours 31 minutes 23 seconds, and 100 miles in 5 hours 17 minutes. He lowered the 200 mile State record, made by Warren F. Taylor, of Norwood, over the same course, August 10, 1897, from 15 hours 4 minutes to 13 hours 4 minutes 47 seconds. The next record to go by the hoard was the 300-mile world's record of 22 hours 56 minutes 8 seconds made by H. Smith at Baltimore, May 9 and 10, 1897. Waller completing 305 miles in 19 hours 47 minutes 18 seconds.

The world's twenty-four-hour record, previously made by Evans at New-Brunswick, N. J., August 10, 1897, of 350 miles 730 feet, was finally left in the shade by Waller, who raised the distance to 368 4-10 miles in 23 hours 59 minutes, elapsed time.

On the last circuit of his 51-mile course Waller's wheel broke, necessitating a delay of several minutes, but otherwise his trial was singularly free from accident. roke the State record for 300 miles, the Nationa

GOSSIP OF THE TROTTERS Although the Speedway has been opened only three weeks, the rivalry is already keen among the owners of fast road horses and double teams. C. E. Mooney, who drives East View, 2:154, and mate. claims to have the fastest pair of trotters on the road, and it is raid that he has thus far made good the claim by beating everything he has met. Nathan Straus owns one of the crack teams-two Frederick Dietz is another aspirant for double-team honors on the Speedway. He drives Rosens Chimes and mate, a pair of handsome and fast bay troiters that can pull a high-wheel road wagon at a 2.30 gait. Rowens Chimes is a product of C. J. Hamilin's Village Farm, and her mate, the faster troiters.

The property which Mr. Clark has in view is admirably located for track purposes, although is about seven miles north of the Harlem River, is high and almost level, and is easily accessible by road, streetcars and steam-cars.
